41. President Gerald Ford, who had served on the Warren Commission, created the United States President's Commission on CIA Activities within the United States—better known as the Rockefeller Commission, after its chairman, Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller—to address allegations of illegal domestic activity by the CIA. In order to address the concerns of the Warren Commission critics, the Rockefeller Commission investigated aspects of the Kennedy assassination, including the "head snap." The members of the medical panel were: Lieutenant Colonel Robert R. McMeekin, MC, USA, Chief, Division of Aerospace Pathology, Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, Washington, D.C.; Richard Lindenberg, M.D., Director of Neuropathology & Legal Medicine, Department of Mental Health, State of Maryland, Baltimore, Maryland; Werner U. 109. Eyewitness Jean Hill began claiming in the 1980s that she had seen a man fire a gun from the grassy knoll; but on the afternoon of the assassination, she stated very specifically in a filmed interview with NBC affiliate WBAP, "No, I didn't see any person fire the weapon, I only heard it." Trask, 238-39. A woman named Beverly Oliver also began claiming, among many other doubtful things, that she had seen a grassy knoll gunman. It has never been established with any certainty that Oliver was an eyewitness to the assassination in the first place. See: <http://mcadams.posc.mu.edu/arnold1.htm>. Then there is the case of Virgil "Ed" Hoffman, a deaf mute, who first came forward in 1967 to indicate he had witnessed something suspicious behind the Texas School Book Depository, and years later told a variety of stories about a gunman and an accomplice behind the fence on the knoll.
